THE SPOTTED LANTERNFLY...

What Is It?

The spotted lanternfly is an invasive insect from Asia, currently found in southeastern PA and surrounding areas. This pest threatens agricultural commodities including: grape, hardwood, tree fruit, landscape and nursery industries. The lanternfly feeds on sap and excretes a sticky, sugary substance called honeydew, which attracts stinging insects such as bees, promotes the growth of sooty mold and causes a messy nuisance. To help stop the spread of the lanternfly, PA state has issued a quarantine order requiring the inspection of all items moving within or out of the area to prevent the transport of any living life stage of the pest.

Know What To Look For

The spotted lanternfly adults are about 1 inch long and half inch wide with wings folded. Nymphs are 1/4 to 1/2 inch long and develop through four stages, all of which are wingless. Egg masses have a gray, mud-like covering, which can become dry and cracked over time. Older egg masses may lose their covering and appear as columns of 30-50 seed-like eggs. Egg masses can be found on trees, rocks and other hard surfaces.

Tree-of-Heaven

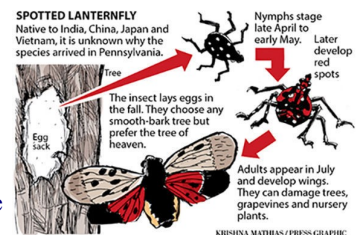

This is the preferred host for the spotted lanternfly. Tree-of-heaven is named because of its rapid growth; it can grow up to 100 feet tall and 6 feet in diameter. The bark of the tree is similar to the outside of a cantaloupe. When crushed, the leaves put off a foul odor that is described as rotten peanut butter. They spread by seed and will also produce "clones" by their roots. This tree can be mistaken for other tree species such as black walnut, hickory and staghorn sumac. Although, the tree-of-heaven is a preferred host, the spotted lanternfly feeds on a large variety of plants, including many trees in our backyards.

What Can I Do?

1. Destroy all life stages of the spotted lanternfly that you find.
2. Check your car and outdoor equipment for spotted lanternfly eggs, nymphs and adults before moving within or out of the quarantine zone. Don't move firewood.
3. Walk around your property to check for egg masses on trees, cement blocks, rocks and any other hard surface. If you find an egg mass from Sept - May, scrape them off using a plastic card or putty knife. Scrape them into a bag or container filled with rubbing alcohol or hand sanitizer. This is the most effective way to kill the eggs, but they can also be smashed and burned. Remember some eggs will be laid at the tops of the trees and may not be possible to reach.
4. Wrap tree trunks with sticky tape and trap the nymphs. Banding trees is most effective for the nymph stage. Be advised that some birds and small mammals can also get stuck to the tape. This is rare, but has been reported. Putting chicken wire over the bands prevents this.
5. Insecticides can be used. Only use insecticides that are registered by the EPA to treat any insect on your property. Home remedies should not be used against the SLF because they may be unsafe to humans, pets and plants. Contact insecticides kill the SLF when the chemical contacts the insect as a direct spray or when the insect walks over a surface with insecticides residue on it. When insecticides are used, the SLF is killed as it feeds on any part of the tree, even if it was not sprayed directly.
6. Share your spotted lanternfly knowledge with others!

Spotted Lanternfly Permit for Businesses

Businesses and organizations must have SLF permits if they move vehicles, products or other conveyances within or out of the quarantine zone which includes the counties of Berks, Bucks, Carbon, Chester, Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia and Schuylkill. Businesses located in other states with established SLF populations must also have a SLF permit if traveling or transporting goods into PA. An owner, manager, supervisor, or other designated employee must complete an online permit course to demonstrate knowledge of this destructive pest and the quarantine requirements. To access this free course visit: extension.psu.edu/slf-permit. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will begin compliance verifications on May 1, 2019. Businesses should obtain their permit prior to this date. For more in-depth information on the Spotted Lanternfly, visit the township website: www.westcocalicotownship.com.

REINHOLDS AMBULANCE

We have an excellent crew of emergency medical technicians and emergency medical responders to cover most evenings and weekend hours. However, due to the lack of available crew members during daytime hours, we have two full-time paid EMT's on staff. This has brought an increase in salaries and this is all paid through the Reinholds Community Ambulance Association. We need your continual support financially to be able to meet our expenses such as equipment, salaries, medical supplies, training, building expenses and repairs. Reinholds Ambulance had 651 dispatches in 2018. We have 15 volunteers in addition to the 2 full-time staff members. If you are interested in volunteering and training, call the station at 717-336-0217.

ON-LOT SEWAGE SYSTEMS

The next round of letters (District 2) will be mailed out in early June 2019. If you are in District 2, you will need to have your system pumped by June 30, 2020. To see which district you are in, please visit the township website.

When your system is pumped, please return the pumping report along with $25 fee to the township. Please include total number of gallons pumped. If you had the system pumped prior to receiving your letter, please submit a copy of the receipt, so that we can change your pumping date in our system.

This is a Rain Garden...

It captures runoff from the roof and allows it to infiltrate slowly into the soil. Rain gardens help prevent pollution and erosion by keeping stormwater from racing away into nearby streams. The native shrubs and perennials planted here attract birds and butterflies and need minimal care.

If you are interested in seeing a Rain Garden in person, you can visit Chapel Gate Park. The Rain Garden is between the basketball court and railroad tracks.
